

South Louisiana Wetlands Discovery Center's Fall Mandalay Nature Trail Adventure Saturday, November 5, 2011 8:00am to 2:00pm

The South Louisiana Wetlands Discovery Center (SLWDC) is partnering again with the Mandalay National Wildlife Refuge to offer its third annual Fall Mandalay Nature Trail Adventure. Students will journey to the Mandalay Nature Trail to participate in a fall wetlands foliage scavenger hunt. Teachers will lead the students through the hunt and will explain the differences between native and nonnative, invasive and non-invasive, and the benefits as well as the harmful characteristics of the plants. Also, the differences between what the plants look like in the fall as opposed to spring will be shown. Students will then journey back to the Terrebonne Folklife Culture Center to discuss their findings and undertake other wetlands activities.

Activities will be led by Ms. Leah Gautreaux, Ms. Carolyn Cowart, and Ms. Leah Rauhaus, science teachers from H.L. Bourgeois High School; Ms. Julie Pellegrin, science teacher from Vandebilt High School; and Ms. Wendy Delgado, science teacher from St. Francis de Sales Elementary.
